Tame your headphone wire with a Magneat

Do your headphone wires ever get in your way while you're working out? Or maybe you've snagged them on the handle of one of the machines at the gym and had your headphones ripped out like I have.

Now there's an accessory to help you prevent such mishaps. Magneats are about the size of a half dollar coin. They come in two magnetic pieces so you can attach it to your shirt, then you wrap the extra headphone wire around it and slip it into the small slit to keep it in place. You can view the demo below.

These are an easy to use (and fashionable) way to tame your dangling headphone wires. You can even use the magnet to store them on your fridge.

They come in a variety of colors and some special designs, and range from $14.99 for solid colors to $19.99 for special designs at U.S. retailers (but they're also available elsewhere on their web site).
